and 184 sund. sch. (exclusively, — with 1029 teachers, and 13,216 child.); and 313 in union with the National Soc. had 21,162 child., and total grants of 3357*l.* Offenders in '48, 689 (or 718 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 208 were convicted, 78 were females, 23 under 15 yrs. of age, 247 could not read or write. Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 405,124 + 2084), the 'births' were 13,217, of whom 6371 were females, 1424 or 9·9 per cent. illegit., — 'deaths' 9013, or 1 in 48, the all-England av. being 46, — 'marriages' 3262 (at church 2961), of which 3120 persons or 47·5 per cent. signed with marks. — Climate dry and healthy, with some E. winds; and surface nearly flat. E. of a line from Cley to Norwich, Wyndham, and the Waveney, is crag or gravelly clay, on chalk, with sand, shells along R. Bure, etc.; W. of it is mostly chalk, except a strip of greensand and oolite along the Wash. Sand for glass-makers is got near Snettisham; the crag contains round stones of phosphate of lime, which are as good as bones for manure; the chalk and flint are used for building. It is woody about Norwich, Ashwellthorpe, Bunwell, Hampnell, Foxley, Shottisham, Wyndham; and still heathy at Norwich, Croxton, Grimstone, Stanton, Swaffham, etc. Soil, of all kinds, chiefly a sandy and clayey loam, — well cultivated and woody to N. and NE., inferior to NW., stiff and wet to SE. Not long ago it was more than one-half warren and sheep-walk, chiefly in the N., but great improvements have been made, and large tracts reclaimed by the turnip culture (brought in by Lord Townshend, 'turnip Townshend' of Geo. I.'s time), the 'Norfolk 4-shift' rotation of crops, extensive draining, etc.; and the farmers have a high character for skill and experience; marl, stickleback (a fish), and other manures are used; chief crops, wheat (3 qrs. per acre), barley (4 qrs.) for malt, oats, rye, beans, peas, clover, and other grasses, besides carrots, potatoes, chiccory, mangel wurzel, mustard and flax (about Wisbeach, Downham), saffron, hemp, etc.; stock of sheep 750,000, chiefly Leicester and S. Downs, who are superseding the old native black-nosed and black-legged breeds; galloway and highland cattle are fattened, — the grazing-land being to SW., on marshes of the Bedford Level; few dairies; good cart-mares and small white pigs are bred; large quantities of 'Cambridge butter,' geese, chickens, rabbits, delicate turkeys, pheasants, and other game sent to market. Estates of all sizes; farms large, and farm buildings good; leases run 7 to 14 and 21 yrs. Woollen and other stuff goods (brought in by the Flemings 1336, the Walloons 1575); shawls, crapes, satins, etc. are made at Norwich (chiefly), Bungay, Yarmo', Wyndham, Diss, etc.: in '47, a bad year, 135, 75, 1345, 1838 hands were in the cotton, woollen, worsted, silk mills respectively. The buzzard, hooded crow, short-eared owl, are sometimes found; mackerel, herrings, and other fish caught along the coast. Rivers are: Gt. and Lit. Ouse, Waveney, Wensum, Yare (anct. Garryenus), Nar, and the Bure and Ant, which have many meres or 'broads' near them, as Hickling, Barton, Ormesby, etc. in the post-tertiary flats on the E. — Among antiquities are: roman camp at Brancaster, saxon at Bloodgate near S. Creake, Foss and Grime's Graves near Weeting; cathedral, etc. at Norwich; old abbeys at Creake, Dereham, Holme (a barony still held by the bishop); priories at Castle Acre, Broomholme, Old Buckenham, Bingham, Flitcham, Thetford, Walsingham; grey friary at Lynn. Most of the churches are of flint, and many have large old fonts; — Bexwell, Beechamwell, Bursten, Brooke, Cranwich, Eccles, Framingham, Haddiscoe, Hales, Intwood, Merton, Rougham, Snoring, Tasburgh, Thorpe, Watton, Witlington, and about 100 more, have round towers, many with 8-sided lanterns above; Castle Rising, Eastham, Flitcham, Lopham, Runcton (a ruin), Walsoken, Walton, Wyndham, etc. are part norman. Old castles at Castle Acre, Castle Rising, Norwich, Yarmo'. Roman ways went from Caistor (Venta Icenorum) to Cromer, Burgh Castle (Garianonum), Dunwich (Sitomagus), Tasburgh (Ad Taum), and Long Stratton (towards Colchester), Cambridge (Camboricum), Water Newton (Durobrivæ), and to Brancaster (Branodunum) passing Elmham, where a branch went off to Castle Acre on Peddar's Way, which goes along the heaths to Swaffham, etc.; the 'Milky Way' was the pilgrims' road to Walsingham, past Weeting, etc. The Danes ravaged it 870 when they landed near Yarmo' (where Cerdic landed 495), and again 974, 1004, etc.; the 'commons' rose in Wat Tyler's rebellion 1381, and again 1549 under Ket the tanner; Q. Eliz. made a progress 1578 after the Armada; and it was one of the 'associated counties' against Ch. I. Sir J. Fastolfe was born at Caistor, Spelman at Congham, Abp. Parker at Norwich, Gresham at Holt (?), Coke at Mileham, Bp. Pearson at Creake, Sir C. Shovell and two other admls. at Cockthorpe, Sir R. Walpole at Houghton, Nelson at Burnham Thorpe, Porson at Ruston; and it gives title of premier duke and earl to the Howards, hereditary earls-marshal of Engld., who had their seat at Norwich, and still hold estates here. II. beat the Dutch, Orfordness lt., — and off it are the Barnard, Gabbard, Aldboro' Knapes, Shipwash, shoals, — which, like the rest, are always shifting, and risk the safety of colliers and other coasters from the N.; Harwich at the Orwell's mouth near the Naze, the Cork, and other shoals; the Thames' mouth, in which are King's Chan. lt. near the Gunfleet and Long Sand, — and further out are the Galloper lt., Kentish Knock, Four-mile Knock, Falls and other shoals, — with many inwards towards the Nore; Margate, near N. Foreland lt.; the Goodwin (outside the Downs) with its lts. and safety beacon; S. Foreland lt. near Dover Strait, which is 18 m. across. In the open sea below the Dogger Bk. or lat. 54°, are the Well, White, Black, Brown, Broad Fourteen, banks, with plenty of fish on them, — also the Sandetie, Hinder, Bligh, Fairy, Dyck, and other banks on the Flemish side. Most or all of these banks are of different coloured sands, — mixed with oaze or mud towards the Danish shore. Chalk cliffs, "the white cliffs of old Albion," prevail along Kent, soft crag, clay, etc. to Cromer, chalk to the Wash, a flat 'fresh-water formation' to Bridlington, chalk round Flamboro' Hd. (the last seen), lias and oolite (with alum, saurian bones, etc.) past Whitby to the Tees, new red sandstone and limestone to the Tyne, coal beds to the Coquet, grit and mountain limest. to beyond Berwick, slaty rocks about Eyemo' and St. Abb's Hd., old red sandst. round Dunbar, limest. and trap cliffs round the Forth to the Tay, old red sandst. past Montrose to Stonehaven, gneiss and granite past Aberdeen, Peterhead, and Banff, schistus about Cullen, old red sandst. in Murray and Dornoch friths, gneiss and Brora coal (lignite) along Sutherld., and old red sandst. in Caithness, and the Orkneys. High water at full and change — at the Orkneys XI ½ hrs., Aberdeen and the Forth H ½, Shields II ¾, Whitby III ¾, Bridlington IV ¼, Lynn Deeps VI, Cromer IX, Yarmo' X, Thames XI ½, Dover XI. Capt. Washington found the spot of least rise and fall of the tide in lat. 52° N., long. 3½° E.,—the alteration being only 16 to 18 in. in two ebbs and a flood, and beginning directly the stream of flood slacked, taking no more than 1½ hrs., and being stationary 7 hrs. About half way across, near 3° long., the stream of tide towards the Holland side turned against, and toward the English side with, the sun.

NW. by N. of London, or 66 by road, the county, assize, sessions, election, and polling town, excise collection, and seat of the shoe trade, on R. Nen (anct. Aufona), and Gd. Junct. branch canal, was Hampton and Northafendon of the Saxons, and Northantone of 'Domesdy,' — was held by the Danes 917-21, who burnt it 1010, and again (under Morcar) about 1064, — given by the Conqueror to Simon de St. Liz (1st earl of N.) who b. the castle, and walled the town, — was the place where Hen. I. met his brother Curthose 1106, kept Easter 1222, and held a council which swore fealty to Q. Maud, — became henceforth the seat of several councils and parliaments, viz. in 1138, and 1144 (called by Stephen), 1160 (by Hen. II., which sentenced Becket), 1175 (to confirm the "constitutions of Clarendon"), 1176 (which Will. of Scotland, a prisoner, attended), 1179 (when burgesses were first called up), 1194 (when K. of Scotland met Rich. I., from whose time to Hen. III. it was a mint town), 1199 (to crown John, who moved his exchequer here from London 1209, met the pope's legate Pandulph 1212, was excommunicated, and obliged to give up the town as a security for Magna Charta), 1217 (when the K. of Scotland did homage to Hen. III. who kept Christmas here 1218), 1227 and 1241 (under Hen. III., who held a tournament at which Peter de Savoy the queen's uncle tilted, took the town from Simon Montfort and the barons 1264, who retook it and called a tournament, but were finally defeated by Prince Edw. at Evesham), 1266 (Hen. III.), 1290 (Edw. I., who kept Christmas here 1300), 1307 and 1316 (Edw. II.), 1328 (Edw. III., when peace was made with Scotland), 1336 (war against France), and 1338 (under the Black Prince), and 1380 (Rich. II., when the poll-tax was laid which provoked Wat Tyler's rising), which was the last

parl. held here, — was near the scene of the "battle of Northampton" (at Hardington fields) when king-maker Warwick 1459 defeated Hen VI. who was brought in prisoner, — garrisoned for parl. by Lord Brooke 1642, — and visited by Roy. Agricult. Soc. 1847; returns two members to parl. (from Edw. I.), with the old bounds, which include 4 pars. Roman coins and urns, and middle-age pottery, have been found; part of the ditch and S. postern of the town walls (dismantled 1662) remain, also the round tower of the castle, with an arch and part of the wall. Some arches are visible of the Bles. Virgin's hosp. (1450); an arch of the black friary, found. before 1240 by J. Dalyngton, and given to the Samwells; a wall of Greyfriars (1246), val. 7*l.*, and given to the Taveners; and a crypt under Wetton's library. There were also St. Andrew's priory, which Simon de St. Liz 1084 made a cluniac cell to St. Mary de Caritate France, val. 263*l.*, and given to the Smiths, — white friary (1271) by Simon Montfort, val. 14*l.*, — austin cell (1322) by Jno. Longueville, — a hermitage at the bridge, — and 5 guilds. Some Oxford students retired here 1258, and a sort of college was formed till 1265, when they were sent back; an old house has the fine welsh motto borne by the Pennants of Downing and others; at Black Lion hill is a cottage with a curiously carved arabesque over the door; Castle Hill chapel has a mon. to Doddridge (a native, 1702-51) who was minister, and had his academy here; there is one of Ryland at the Baptist chapel. Castle Ho., G. Baker, Esq., belonged to the Haselrigs. Rivers and Widville were beheaded here after the battle of Edgcote; Rich. III. was here 1483 before seizing the young king; Hen. VIII. in 1540, Eliz. in 1564, Jas. I. at his accession, Cromwell 1645, Fairfax 1647, Cosmo duke of Tuscany 1669 (he staid at the 'George,' and says the town was 2120 paces round, with 16,000 people), and Q. Victoria 1844. The plague raged 1637; great floods 1663 and 1720; a fire 1675, which burnt 600 houses; and earthquakes were felt 1720, '76. In Fuller's time it was noted for its saltpetre and pigeons, and before that for leather bottles; and they had a proverb, "the mayor opens oysters with his dagger," — in order to keep them from his nose, as they came so far inland that they were stale when they got here. Besides the above, other natives are: Bps. Adam and John of N., and another John of N., Beaufu a monk, Bp. Parker (1640-87), and Addington (1729-96), West, and Woolsten, divines, — Browne (the head of the Brownists, d. 1630), and Fisher, who went to Rome to convert the Pope. Near Becket's well is the Vigo promenade with a good view, and there was a scarlet well, to which the Londoners used to send cloth to be dyed. The branch canal, 4 m. long, cut 1815, joins the Gd. Junct. at Middleton. Outside the town are: Hunsboro' danish, and other camps, — Q. Eleanor's cross near Delapré abbey (see that) E. Bouverie, Esq., Abingdon Retreat under the care of Dr. Prichard (on a site of 80 ac.), and Duston Priory. It publishes the 'N. Herald' and 'N. Mercury' newspapers, is the co. militia head qrs., and gives title of marquis to the Comptons. Dr. Price's table for the Equitable Office, founded on the well-known Northampton 'Bills of Mortality,' is pronounced to be "beyond doubt erroneous to an extent which deprives it of all value," by Mr. Farr, in a very full memoir of the town appended to the 8th Report of the Registrar General, — in which he gives a fac simile of one of the bills, and compares the false tables with the true ones computed by him from correct data. ✠ N. N. of the Tyne, the other two-thirds being S. of it, in Durham. About 30 to 40 seams, from 6 in. to 6 ft. thick, mixed with sandstone, clay slate, limestone (with potter's clay on the top), and broken by the '12 fathom' and other basalt dykes, dip to the E., so that at Newcastle the 'high main' of 6 ft. thickness, and the 'low main' of 6½ ft., are 195 and 135 fath. deep. Ferns, grasses, pine wood, and other remains of the forests, are found in the mines, which were first worked at Newcastle about 1240, and by water power up to 1714, when steam began to be used. About 8500 'underground' and 'upperground' hands are employed in the Heddon, Hartley, Earsdon, Wallsend, and other pits, by the names of hewers, putters, hoisters, rolleymen, trappers, wastemen, way cleaners, viewers, overmen, banksmen, staithsmen, etc., and 270 keelmen, who work the keels or barges on the Tyne. About 4500 tons of lead (941 hands) in veins running E. and W., are worked yearly at Allenhead, Shildon, Fallowfield, Coalcleugh, etc., 32 cwt. of ore producing a ton of lead and about 11 oz. of silver; zinc is found with the lead, and iron stone (50 hands) with the coal; roofing, flag, and grind stones (308 hands) are quarried at Byker, etc.; limestone, for manure, abounds chiefly in Bambro' ward. Manufactures are — glass-works, on the Tyne, at Newcastle, Byker, Lemmington, etc., employing 482 hands; iron and lead works (917); chemical, shot, and locomot. works; paper (124) at Houghton, etc., gloves at Hexham: in 1847, a bad year, 395 were in the flax, and 19 in the woollen, factories. Larch is much planted, besides oak, ash, elm, hazel (for corve baskets in the mines), birch, willow, alder; cod, ling, sole, etc., conger-eel, flat-fish, lobsters, cockles, are found along the coast, — and salmon in the Tweed (formerly in the Tyne). The Rs. Nent, Tippal, E. and W. Allen, go to the S. Tyne, — the Tarset, Keilder, Reed in Redesdale, etc. (which rise in the old haunts of the moss-troopers), to the N. Tyne, which joins the S. Tyne near Hexham in Tyndale, whence the main stream, after receiving the Devil's water or Dillsbeck, and Derwent, goes to the sea; the Blyth (receiving the Pont), Wansbeck, Line, Aline (anct. Alaunus), Coquet in Coquetdale, also run to the sea; the Beaumont, Glen, Common, Breamish or Brennich (which gave name to Bernicia, and has a fall at Linhope Spout), rise in the Cheviots, — where the battle of Chevy Chase was fought, when this was all forest, full of red deer, — and go to the Till, which runs to the Tweed (Tweda). Mineral springs at Thurston, Lady's well near Halystone, and Eglingham. Frequent E. winds make the climate cold; Sept. and Oct. are most settled; about 450,000 acres of moor and peat to the W. are divided off into small freeholds by 'marches,' and there is little common, — 90,000 round the Cheviots have green hills and vales; soil a fertile clayey or gravelly loam, along the coast (which is level and manured with sea-weed), the Tweed, and about Belford, Whittingham, Hexham, etc. — with shell marl at Carham, Branxton; chief crops are, oats (a good sort), wheat, beans, turnips (for winter food, drilled in after the 'Northumberland' method), barley, potatoes; short-horned cattle are used for the dairy and fattening; about 500,000 sheep, including the hornless 'Cheviots' and heath sheep, and a long-woolled breed (7½ lb. fleeces), are pastured on the hills, and yield 14,000 packs; good muscular hardy horses from Clydesdale are kept; estates large; farms large and small, and held at will or 21 yrs. lease; oatmeal is the common diet for the hinds and peasantry. —— Along the roman wall, begun about A. D. 80 by Agricola, strengthened by Hadrian, and Severus (who died at York 210), and which runs close to the road thro' Heddon, St. Oswald's, etc. (N. of the Newc. and Carl. rail.), are remains of 10 stations, viz. Cousins House or Wall's End (Segedunum), Newcastle (Pons Ælii), Benwell (Condercum), Halton Chesters (Vindobala), Rutchester (Hunnum — many remains), Chesters, or Walwick Ch. (Cilurnum — many remains), Carrowburgh (Procolita) Housesteads (Borcovicum — many remains), Little Chesters (Vindolana), Gt. Chesters (Æsica), Caervorran (Magna, whence the Maiden way goes to Alston), etc., towards Carlisle; Watling St. or Leeming Lane, goes from Ebchester (Vindomora) by Corbridge (Corstopitum), Beuckley near the Wall (whence a branch went to Alnwick), Risingham (Habitancum), Rochester (Bremenium), Chew Green (Ad Fines) on the Border, into Scotland. At all these many inscriptions, etc. have been found. Remains of camps are seen at Whalton, Whitley Cast. near Kirkhaugh, Whitchester near Haltwhistle, Humbledon (a cairn), Rosedon Edge near Ilderton and the druid circle, Kirknewton (many), Black Dykes near Thirlwall Cast. and pass, Bolam, Outchester and Spindeston near Bambro', Belford, Rothbury, Castlehill near Callaly, Glanton Pike, Bewick Hill, Maiden and Greencastle near Wooler, Harelaw near Paston, Castlestone Nick near Cornhill; castles and peel tower ruins at Tynemo', Newcastle, Ogle, Bellister, Thirlwall, Staward le Peel, Willimoteswick, Langley, Simonsburn, Bellingham, Kielder (in a wild spot), Cockley, Prudhoe (the Percys', who kept the E. marches), Ayden, Halton, Welton, Morpeth, Bothall, Dunstanboro', Bambro' (K. ✻ ✻ P. M. A. ✠ Norwich, or 'Norridge,' city (66) a county of itself, locally in Humbleyard hund. E. Norfolk, a station on E. Count. rail. 126 m. from London or 108 by road, the county, assize, sessions, election, and a polling town, excise collection, and seat of a diocese (from W. Rufus), in a pleasant spot amongst gardens and orchards, on a hill side on a bend of R. Wensum, grew out of the ruins of Venta Icenorum or Caistor (according to the rhyme, "Caistor was a city when Norwich was none, And Norwich was built of Caistor stone"); was a mint town of the E. Anglian Saxons, who called it Nord-wic, Northwic, etc. (or North town), and settled here under Grecca or Uffa 540-75; was taken 870 by the Danes after their defeat of K. Edmund, restored by Alfred 872, and granted to Guthrum the Dane; was taken and burnt 1004 by Sweyne, and again settled by the Danes 1010, who were able it seems to come up to it in their boats; held 1018 by Torchil and Canute, who found or reb. the castle; had 25 churches and 1320 burgesses in the Confessor's time, — was given by the Conqueror to Ralph de Waiet or Guader, who, conspiring, forfeited it after a hard siege to Roger Bigod (1075) who reb. the castle; was settled by many Jews in the time of Rufus, when the cathedral was begun,—visited 1122 by Hen. I. who kept Christmas here, — taken 1173-4 by the rebellious barons of Hen. II., — held under John by Will. Marshall, Hubert de Burgh, etc., and taken 1216 by Lewis the Dauphin; given by Edw. II. to his brother Thomas, as the head of an Honour of 120 knights' fees (or 85,000 acres), after whom the castle became the county prison; was visited 1256 by Hen. III., and again 1272 after a riot, in which the people burnt the cathedral, etc., which was consecrated afresh 1278 before Edw. I.; was walled by the citizens 1294-1342 with 12 gates and 40 towers, settled by the Flemings 1336 (who brought in the woollen and crape trade), and ravaged by the 'black death' 1348-9; was visited by Edw. III. 1340 (to hold a tournament), 1342 (on his way to France), 1344, and 1350 (when the Black Prince attended a tournament), — by Rich. II. 1382 (after Fighting Bp. Spencer's defeat of John the Dyer, one of Wat Tyler's men), — by Hen. IV. 1406, Hen. VI. 1468-9, and Hen. VII. 1485; was partly burnt 1506, and taken 1549 by Kett's people, who being defeated by Dudley on Mousewold Heath, Rob. Kett was hung from the castle; was settled 1556 by the Walloons, who established the bombazeen trade 1575, in Elizabeth's time, who was here 1576 and 8; was held by parl. in the civil war, visited by Ch. II. 1671, and by Q. Anne, and by Royal Agricult. Soc. 1849; — returns two members (from Edw. I.), the bounds, comprising 36 pars. as below, with Earlham (seat of the Gurneys), Eaton or Easton (the Berneys'), Heigham, Hellesdon, Lakenham, Pockthorpe, Thorpe (the Harveys'), Trouse, and part of Sprouston) being unaltered by the Reform Bill, — no. of electors 4976 (of 10*l*. houses 16,790); was first chartered by Hen. I., and under the new act is divided into 8 wards, governed by a mayor (who is returning officer), 16 ald., 48 council., with the style of "mayor, sheriffs, citizens, and commonalty of N." and revenue of 14,328*l*. Acres 5920 (or 7873) or 4 m. by 4, and 14 in circuit, on chalk and clay, growing heavy crops of wheat, barley, oats, beans, — with many gardens, Pop. 62,344 + 123, employed in the manufact. of silk (1277 hands), shoes, etc. (1707), woollens (394), worsteds (177), cottons (about 220), — also of baskets 52, brushes 77, chairs 34, coaches 131, crapes 2, gauzes 39 (so the 'Report,' — but about 1839, Grout and Co. had 970 hands on crape gauzes), gloves 56, horse-hair 20, iron 58, clogs, etc. 33, pipes 36, rope 57, sacking 18, shawls 70, shuttles 6, yarn (mohair, etc.) 96, — besides weavers 2344, tanners 76, maltsters 48, fellmongers 30, wool-staplers 23; the chief articles made being bombazeens, mousselin de laines, fringes, fillovers, princettas, gauzes, camlets (for the foreign mkt.), bandanas, silk shawls (mixed with wool and mohair), etc., and 1839, 5075 hand-looms engaged 4054 persons. Houses 14,043, many old, standing in gardens, in narrow streets, the principal being: the cathedral; 36 churches

Holy Trinity Cathedral, begun on removing from Thetford 1096, by Bishop Herbert de Lozinga (who also found. 1101 a benedictine priory), was finished about 1149 by Bp. Eborard, fired 1171, restored 1197 by Bp. Jno. of Oxford, partly fired 1272 in the riots, restored afresh, and finally completed by Bps. Goldwell and Nix 1510, much injured by the Puritans, who destroyed about 100 brasses, tombs, the painted windows, etc., and repaired 1806, — is a fine specimen of the norman and early eng. styles, 411 ft. by 191, including a choir 83 ft. high, with a circular end, 15 flying buttresses, and pointed clerestory windows, — nave with a finely carved stone roof, — W. front and window rebuilt by Bp. Alnwick, — tower reb. 1361 by Bp. Percy, 315 ft. high, with a crocketted spire, and vane to which a sailor boy climbed 1798 in sight of thousands of people, — Jesus chapel, reb. 1662 by Bp. Reynolds near the site of Bp. Samson's, — the Heydon (with a mon.), St. Edmund's, St. Luke's (with a good font), Hobart, St. Mary the Less, and other chapels, — a screen, and mons. of Bp. Goldwell, Roger Bigod, a Beauchamp, Wyndham, Boleyn (grandfather to Anne), Berney, Calthorpe, Bp. Bathurst (by Chantrey), etc., — beautiful decorated eng. cloister, 174 ft. square, built by Bps. Ralph de Walpole, Salmon, and Alnwick (1430), with a fine roof, and 7-niched doorway. Within the precincts are: the Bp.'s palace, reb. 1318 by Bp. Samson, and since restored, with the hall 110 ft. by 60, which the Puritans ruined, — the deanery, with 8 columns of Bp. Herbert's priory close to it, — charnel house or gram. school (as above), — St. Ethelbert's fine gate with a chapel on it, built after 1272 in place of one then burnt, — also Sir T. Erpingham's gate, b. by him 1428 as a penance for being a Lollard, with his statue and 38 smaller ones, — Bishop's gate, and the old Water gate. The castle, which stood on a hill 360 yds. round, commanding a good prospect, had three courts, and covered 23 acres; there remain of it, the keep (restored, and now part of the assize courts, etc.) 110 ft. by 93, and 69½ high, with a good norman arch in it, and Bigod's turret at one corner, — the barbican bridge 140 ft. long, with an arch 43 ft. span, and the Black and Devil's towers 14 ft. diam., which were used as the prison up to 1793. Parts of the town wall exist. Other old buildings are: the Dungeon or Cow tower, built 1390, 27 ft. diam. and 52 high; Fastolf's Place, built before 1459, by Fastolf of Caistor; Surrey Ho., an old elizabethan seat with stained arms, etc. on Mousewold Heath, where the Duke of Norfolk had a palace (Hen. VIII.) the greatest out of London, — and near which are the gate, walls, etc. of St. Leonard's priory cell, built 1100 by Bp. Herbert, and burnt by Kett's mob, the ruined chapel being called 'Kett's Castle,' after that leader, who kept his 'court' under the Oak of Reformation; hall of Whitefriars, found. 1256 by Phil. Fitzwarren, now a baptist chapel (?); hall of St. Mary in the Fields College, f. 1250 by Jno. le Brun, and val. 87*l.*, with arms of the Hobarts, Cornwallises, etc.; and church (now St. Andrew's Hall), kitchen (house of industry), and part of cloisters of Blackfriars, f. 1226. Nothing remains of St. Mary's benedictine nunnery (1146), R. Miniot's austin friary (Edw. I.), Jno. de Hastingford's grey friary (1226); the houses De Domina, i. e. Our Lady (before 1290), De Pica (the only one in England), De Sacco (1250), a college found. about 1307; God House (Edw. I.), Hildebrand de Mercer's spital (1200), St. Clement's (before 1312), St. Saviour's (Edw. I.) by Rich. de Brekkles, Magdalen hosp. by Bp. Herbert (qy. if a barn left?), Norman's hosp. by Bp. Eborard (1118-45), and several lazar houses. A statue of Nelson by Milnes is to be set up. Besides Abp. Parker, etc. (above), other natives are: the divines, Bp. Bateman founder of Trin. Hall Camb. (died 1354), Allen (1608-73), J. Francis (1700-49), Salter a greek scholar (d. 1778), E. Pearson (1756-1811), Vinke (d. 1702), Dr. Sam. * * P. M. NOTTINGHAM (71) a county of itself, locally in S. Thurgarton wap. S. Notts. a station on Not. and Linc. rail. 130½ m. from London, or 124 by road, the county, assize, sessions, and a polling town (for N. Notts.), and chief seat of the hose and lace manufactures, near Sherwood Forest, on N. Canal, in a fine healthy spot on a hill by the Trent, where R. Lene joins it, — is of doubtful origin, but was called Snatingaham (i. e. cave town, from the sandstone caverns underneath) by the mercian Saxons,—was taken from the Danes 868 (under Ubba) by K. Burhed, and again 941 by Edw. the Elder, who fortified it; had 192 burgesses in the Confessor's time, and 134 at 'Domesdy,' when it was held by Will. Peverell (with the custody of the Trent, and the way to York) nephew to the Conqueror, who was here 1068 and found. the castle; burnt in the civil wars of Stephen's day (1140, by Ralph Paganell), and those of the barons 1153, '73, in the time of Hen. II. who kept Christmas here 1178; was the place where Cœur de Lion 1194, after his captivity, held a parl. to call his brother John to account, and whither John retreated 1212, and kept Christmas 1215; taken from the barons 1264 by Hen. III.; occupied by Edw. III. 1330, who surprised his mother's paramour, the "gentill Mortimer," by a secret way to the castle keep, held a council here 1334, and a parl. 1337, when the Flemings were invited over; was the place of Rich. II.'s parls. 1386, 1394, '97, — where Edw. IV. was proclaimed 1460, and which he visited 1470,—whence Rich. III. marched to Bosworth Field 1485, and Hen. VII. to the battle of E. Stoke 1487, — and where Chas. I., May 1642, first hoisted his standard (near the barracks); was held for parl. by Col. Hutchinson, flooded 1795 by the Trent, and the scene of riots 1812, 1816-17, and 1830; returns two members to parl. (from Edw. I.), the bounds, comprising 3 pars. (as below) and Standard Hill, etc., being unaltered by the Reform bill, — no. of electors 5148 (of 10*l.* houses 12,611); was first chartered by Edw. II., made a county by Hen. VI., and under the new act is divided into 7 wards (as formerly), governed by a mayor (who is returning officer), 14 ald., 42 council., with the style of "may. and burgesses of the town of N." and revenue of 12,178*l.* Acres of boro' 2610 (or 2560), on gypsum, much excavated throughout, — about 1200 ac. round the town being open common; pop. 53,901 (exclusive of the pop. of New Sneinton, New Lenton, and New Shadford, beyond the old town bounds, who are closely connected with its trade), employed in the manufact. of cotton and silk hose (3833 hands, and about 3406 frames being used), which was first introduced 1641, — of bobbinet and lace (3704 hands), shoes, etc. (865), cotton, etc. (500), silk (171), — also in making baskets (38), bobbins (45), braces (33), buttons (11), engines (44), frames (128), gloves (50), iron (28), mats (33), nails (23), needles (100), pipes (30), rope (41), sinkers (44), thread (20), woollens (28), — besides dyers 211, fellmongers 17, turners 58, maltsters 44; houses 10,934 (in well-paved, but small closely packed streets), well built and floored with gypsum, which resists damp, vermin, etc., — with 7 churches, 20 chapels, county hall rebuilt 1770 (with standards taken in 1745, portraits of Geo. III.) and co. prison behind it, town-hall and town and co. gaol, bridewell or house of correction, large mkt. place (4½ acres) which had two crosses, new exchange over shambles, including mechanics' institute (1824) and assembly rooms, — new corn exchange (1850) by T. Hine, 77 ft. by 55, with glass roof, — school of design (1843), public library and news-room (1816), — 5 banks, as Moore's, Smith's, Wright's, Hart's, Nottingh. bk., — savings bk. PERTHSHIRE, an inland county, Mid. Scotland, of the Highland border, and the finest of all, included the old divisions or stewartries of Atholl (K.), Balquhidder (SW.), Breadalbane (W. and Mid.), Gowrie (E.), Menteith (S.), Perth (SE.), Rannoch (NW.), Stormont and Strathearn (Mid.), — was occupied by the Horestii and Vennicontes or Vecturiones in Vespasiana of the Romans, who overran it under Agricola 83-4, and Severus 206-7, — and was the chief seat of the pictish kingdom of Abernethy, — is traversed by the great roman way and Scottish Central rail., — watered by the Tay, etc., and bordered by the Grampians and Aberd. (NE.), Forfar. (E.), Fife., Kinross., and Clkmn. (SE.), the Forth and Stirlg. (S.), the Grampians and Argyll. (W.), Grampians and Inverness. (NW.). Length from Arnprior near the Forth NNE. to head of Glentilt 62 m., greatest breadth 55, av. ditto 43; relative size 872-10,000ths; circuit about 240. It contains 2638 sq. m., or 1,688,320 acres, of which 32,000 are lakes, and about ½ cultivated; 137,390 persons (being 5504 less than in 1831, thro' emigration, incorporation of farms, etc.), of whom 24,780 are in Perth, Kincardine, Dunkeld, — 72,412 are females, 61,119 under 20 yrs. of age, 120,079 county-born, — 23,400 or 17 per cent. live by commerce, trade, etc., 16,302 or 11·8 per cent. by agricult. (3879 being farmers and graziers), 1525 educated professions, 3147 independent, 24,087 labourers and servants, etc.; 28,993 houses (flats being reckoned), besides 1884 empty and building; 10 districts, Blair Gowrie (N.), Carse of Gowrie (NE.), Dunkeld and Cupar-Angus (E.), Auchterarder, Perth, and Culross (SE.), Crieff and Dunblane (S.), Weem (Mid. and W.); 69 parishes, and parts of 11 others, — those on the SE. being the smallest and most populous, and 12 out of the 18 highland pars. on the W. being nearly as large as all the rest (Fortingal, for example, is 37 m. by 17, Blair Atholl 30 m. by 18); about 274 vils. and hmlts.; 2 royal and parl. burghs, Perth * the co. sessions town, etc. as below, Culross, — 9 burghs of barony, Dunkeld *, Crieff *, Cupar-Angus *, Alyth (all which, with Dunblane and some others, are market towns), Longforgan, Abernethy, Blairgowrie *, Craig of Maderty, Kincardine, — some other large vils. being Auchterarder, Auchtergaven, Callander *, Doune, Errol, Kinnoul, Methven, Muthill, Scone, etc., — and those marked *, with Aberfeldy, being small debt courts; returns two members to parl., viz. 1 for county (elect. 4034), 1 for Perth as below, — while Culross (el. 27) contributes to Stirling, and Tulliallan and 4 adjacent pars. have votes for Kinross.; is governed by a lord lieut., vice-lieut., sheriff and two substitutes (at Perth and Dunblane), and about 60 deputy lieuts., and constitutes 7 presbyteries in the synods of Perth, Angus, Fife, with 79 clergy, whose av. stipends are 215*l.* Real prop. (1815) 555,532*l.*, — (1843) 613,168*l.*, of which 6520*l.* on fisheries, 948*l.* on mines and quarries; gross rental (1811) 460,739*l.*, or 5*s.* 7*d.* per acre, — ('43) 551,078*l.*, or 6*s.* 7½*d.*; valued rent (1674) 339,892*l.* scots; fiar or av. price of 2nd wheat (1842-8) 42*s.* 5*d.* per qr., — of meal 16*s.* 7*d.* per boll of 140 lbs. Savings bk. (1849) 1 in the city, as below; expend. for poor (1847-8) in 74 pars. (27 being assessed) 22,127*l.*, of which 18,054*l.* for 3747 poor on roll, 1408*l.* for 1863 casual poor. Schools about 324, with 16,930 child. attending. Av. number of offenders (1836-46) 128. — The country is hilly throughout, with innumerable glens or narrow valleys, and straths or broader ones, taking name from the rivers which flow through them from the mountains on the W. and N., and run for the most part ENE. and S. towards the Tay. A line through the passes of Aberfoyle, Leny (near Callander), Comrie, and Killiecrankie, divides the lowlands from the highlands, — which, in or near the W. Grampians, include Ben Venue (near Loch Katrine) 2800 ft. high, B. Ledi 2683, B. Harrow (at R. Teith's head), B. Loy (at R. Tay's head, on Argyll. border), B. More 3819, B. Voilich 3180, B. Chullin, B. Chonzie 3028, B. Lawers (near L. Tay) 3945, Schiballian 3513, B. Chualach; in the N. Grampians are, B. Cranky, B. Dearg, B. y Gloe 3690, Scarsoch 3390, and B. Uarnmore 3589 (both on Aberd. border), Glâs Mhiel (on Forfar. border). B. Cleuch in the Ochills, on the SE., is 2359 ft. high; Dunsinane in the Sidlaws, on the E., is 1414, and Birnham hill about 1500. Old red sandstone is the prevailing rock in the lowlands, and mica slate, chlorite slate, grauwacké, and clay slate in the highlands, with a little granite in Rannoch moor (1000 ft. high) and N. of L. Rannoch, and in Glentilt, — also basalt here and there, breccia or puddingstone at Callander, coal on the Fife. border. Blue slate (54 hands) is got at Birnam, and grey slate is quarried; good hard stone at Kingoodie, — sandstone, etc. (42) at Longforgan, Auchtergaven, Errol, — blue marble at Leny and Glentilt, — ironstone (29 hands) at Culross, with fire-clay and coal, which is also worked (29 hands) at Fossaway and Tulliallan, — but this and lime are scarce, from the difficulty of carriage; a little lead is found. The lakes, lying in the straths, are long and narrow; in the S. are, Lochs Chon, Ard, and Menteith, near R. Forth's head, — Lochs Katrine (the subject of Scott's 'Lady of the Lake'), Achray, and Vennachar, with the Trossachs, Bridge of Turk, etc. near them, — also Lochs Doile, Voil, Lubnaig, all at the head of R. Teith, which, with the Almond and Devon, runs to the Forth; L. Earn at the head of R. Earn, to which the Ruchill, Lednoch, Turret, etc. run: in the W. are, Lochs Dochart, Tay (12 m. long) on the Tay (anct. Tavus), to which the Lyon (from L. Lyon), Tumel (from Lochs Lydoch and Rannoch), Bruan (from L. Freuchie, etc.), Isla in Strathmore (joined by the Shee, Ericht, Airdle), Almond, and Earn, all run, — and which drains nearly the whole county, by a course of 105 m., past Perth and Dundee, to the sea. The Garry (from L. Garry), Feachory, Bruar, Tilt, etc. run down the N. Grampians to the Tumel, — which has some good falls, as have the Bruar, Devon, and Acharn (near L. Tay). Several small lakes are in Caputh, Cluny, etc.; the passes and other spots near the highlands command fine views (Scott, in the 'Fair Maid of Perth,' styles it "the most varied and beautiful" of counties); and Pitcaithley is noted for its mineral springs. Peat fuel is cut in the bogs and mosses; some remains of the old forests are left in Breadalbane and Menteith, and large plantations have been made (the late Duke of Atholl planted 27 millions), chiefly of larch, fir (scotch for dry, and spruce for wet, soils), with some oak, ash, elm, birch, etc.; the red deer, roe and fallow deer, fox, wild cat, badger, weasel, black cock, ptarmigan, partridge, blue hare, etc. abound, — and the eagle is seen. Soil, light sand and gravel, with a rich clay in Carse of Gowrie, — the cultivated parts being near the mouths of rivers, and in Strathearn, Strathtay, etc.; in the lowlands, where great advances have been made, the farms run 50 to 500 acres, on 15 to 19 yrs. lease, with improved farm buildings, etc., and good crops of oats, barley, wheat, beans, potatoes, turnips, etc., besides fruit, grasses, are raised, — but the highlands are mostly sheep-farms for Tweeddale and Cheviot breeds, with some Southdowns, etc.; cattle are various; estates entailed, and many large. —— The roman way from the S. went by Kier (anct. Alauna) on the Forth, Ardoch (Lindum, a famous camp, whence a branch road to Dealginross or Victoria, on the Earn), Kaim's or Kemp's Cast., Strageth (Hierna, on the Earn), Ad Tavum and Orrea (near Perth), Inchtuthill (In Medio), on to Braemar, etc., while a branch turns off to Grassy Walls (Castra) and Cupar-Angus, where camps are seen, — and one is left at Fortingal on L. Tay; a druid circle is also here, and cromlechs, cairns, etc. remain at Blair Atholl, Cargill, Kirkmichael, — with some forts on various heights. There are: a round tower at Abernethy (the pictish capital), old cathedrals at Dunkeld and Dunblane (once a culdee seat), palace of the scotch kings at Scone (whence Edw. I. carried off the coronation stone), abbeys at Cupar-Angus (in the camp) and Inchaffray, priory at Inchmachome in Menteith, old castles at Doune, Moulin, Kincardine, Kinclaven, Cast. Campbell, Ruthven, Drummond, Elcho, Blair Atholl, etc. Ken. HI. beat the Danes at Luncarty, — and Montrose the Covenanters at Tippermuir, 1645; Dundee fell at Killiecrankie 1689, in the moment of victory, — Marr and Argyll fought at Sheriffmuir 1716; at Perth the Gowrie plot took place; 'girdles' for cakes were made at Culross, and at Auchterarder the dispute about patronage began which led to the Free Church. Cotton (3955 hands), linen and flax (3231), woollen (486), yarn (76), are manufactured at Perth, Culross, Dunkeld, Crieff, Longforgan, Cupar-Angus, Comrie, Errol, Deanston, etc., with rope at Kincardine, silk at Perth, — besides 2800 hands returned as 'weavers, etc.:' in 1847, a bad year, 1357 and 181 hands were employed in the cotton and woollen mills respectively. Distilling is carried on at Muthill, etc., and salmon fisheries of the Earn and other streams are valuable. Seats are: Duke of Atholl A. Castle, Marq. of Breadalbane Taymo' Cast., Earl of Kinnoull Dupplin Cast., E. Mansfield Scone Palace, E. Camperdown Gleneagles, Visct. Strathallan S. House, Lord Willoughby d'Eresby Drummond Cast., L. Rollo Duncarrib, L. Ruthven Freeland, L. Kinnaird K. House, L. Charles the Martyr Vic. with Compton Gifford Cur. 612*l.*, Trustees, — ch. b. 1646; St. Andrew and Trinity Curs. 115*l.* and 80*l.*, Vicar; Christ Ch. Cur. — l., Vicar, — ch. b. in pointed style by Wightwick; St. Peter and St. James Curs., 150*l.* and 130*l.*, Crown and Bishop; Charles's chapel Cur., 100*l.*, Trustees; Sutton-on-Plym Cur., 130*l.*, Crown and Bishop. George St. chapel has been reb. in the italian style, by Wightwick, who built the orphan asylum in the same, and the post office in the grecian, style. There were a lopers' hosp., and a white and grey friary here (Rich. II.). The citadel, with 5 bastions and about ¼ m. of ramparts, on the Hoe, which commands the Sound, was first b. 1670 on the site of Q. Elizabeth's blockhouse, and Bp. Stafford's old castle (Edw. III.), of which a tower remains. The harb. or Sutton Pool, between Cat Down and the Hoe, dries at low water, and has a pier with a light 29 ft. high, put up 1822 and seen 6 m.; a tram rail. for granite, etc., comes down from Dartmoor, and many emigrants sail hence for Australia, etc. The screw steamers, with Cape of Good Hope mails, go from the Gt. Western docks in Mill Bay. In 1846, 389 sail of 33,688 tons (190 being under 50 t. each, 29 built in the colonies), and 5 steamers of 341 t. (1 under 50 t.) belonged to the port, which has Devonport, Calstock, St. Germains, Looe, for sub-ports; and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was 'coastwise' 2856 sail of 197,032, and 1310 of 88,169 tons (besides 374 steamers of 127,598, and 429 of 124,057 t.),— from and to 'colonies' 196 of 23,573, and 238 of 26,086 t. (besides 38 steamers of 4455, and 44 of 6497 t., — and 2 foreign sail of 759 t. outw.),— from and to 'foreign ports' 169 of 15,698 and 102 of 10,121 t. (besides 71 foreigners of 10,200 and 56 of 8239 t.); total customs 108,055*l.*; trade, in timber, sugar, manganese, wool, coal, fish, etc. P. Sound (anct. Tamarus Fluv.), where the mouths of the Tamar (or Hamoaze, the chief harb.) and Plym (or Catwater) join, is 3 m. by 2, with 5 to 12 fath. water and room for 2000 sail, is circled by hills, and protected by Rennie's Breakwater, which was planned in imitation of a coral reef, and begun 12 Aug. 1812, is 1700 yds. long, 70 yds. wide at the base, narrowing to 10 at top, contains 2½ million tons of stone (much of it from Orestone quarry), has a light house at the W. end (b. 1841-2, 63 ft. high, seen 9 m.), and a stone near the E. end, in long. 4° 8′ 21″ W., for rating chronometers by. The middle part is 1000 yds. long, the equal ends bending inwards at an angle of 120°; the sides slope respectively, 2½ and 1½ for 1, outwards and inwards; and some make the width at top and bottom about 16 yds. and 100 yds.: total cost to the present day 1½ millions. The great storms of 1817 and '24 did no harm. On the E. side of the Sound are the Mewstone, Renny, and Shagstone rocks, off Wembury Point; Tinker and Shovel shoals in the Sedley or E. channel (past the breakwater); Statten Pt. and pier in Bovisand Bay, with a reservoir of 12,000 tons of water for shipping; Duke and Leek shoals; Mount Batten tower, round which is Catwater leading to Orestone, Saltram, etc.; Sutton Pool inside Cat Down; the Winter, Cobbler, and Mallard shoals, and Asia rock, which lie in the fair way, under the Hoe, where the people of the 'Dutton' were saved by Exmouth, as told in his "Life." Along the W. side are the Hamoaze (see that), past Devil's Pt., etc.; Redding Pt., off which is Drake's Isld., with a dangerous passage called the Bridge, between; Mt. Edgecumbe, seat of Earl Mt. Edgecumbe, which the leader of the Armada said should be his own; New and Scottish grounds or shoals off Ravenness; Cawsand bay pilot station, with 5 fath., and Maker church over it; Knap and Panther shoals near W. end of the breakwater, round which is the principal way to the Sound; Dragstone rock off Penlee Pt.; and the Rame Head (the Krion Metopon of old geographers), — 9 m. SSW. of which, in sight of Plymouth, is the Eddystone, with the Hand Deeps near it. Among the natives are: Hawkins (1520-95) a brave sailor, but the first englishman to carry slaves to the W. Indies, — Sir R. Hawkins a traveller (died 1622), — Bacon (d. 1683), Crane, Quick (1636-1706), divines, — Glanville (1636-80) who wrote on witchcraft, etc., — Jacob Bryant (1715-1806), Bidiake author of 'Virginia' (1758-1814), Carrington author of 'Dartmoor,' etc. (1777-1831), Madge, a scientific man (d. 1793), Mrs. Parsons, a novel writer, — Northcott (1746-1831) the painter, also Haydon (d. 1847), Prout, Eastlake; Lethbridge, a miniature painter, died here 1830, and Foulston the architect 1842. Q. Katherine landed 1501, and Don Miguel 1829; in 1595, 22 chests of Pope's bulls and pardons, taken by the Godolphins, were burnt in the mkt. place; the combined fleets appeared off the coast 1779. The curfew bell is still tolled, striking the days of the month. It publishes the 'P. Conservative,' 'P. Herald,' 'P. Times,' 'P. and Devonport Journal,' newspapers; is the S. Devon militia head qrs., and gave title of earl to the Windsors. Steamers go to Cork, Dublin, Waterford, Falmo', London, Southampton. Plymo' Sup. Registry, comprises the boro' above; pop. 36,520 + 468; births 1335 (640 being females, 53 illegit.), — deaths 857, — marriages 537, of which 362 persons signed with marks: 784 and 'many more' deaths from cholera in 1849. Roxburghshire, or Teviotdale, an inland county of S. Scotland, on the Borders, was the seat of the Gadeni and Ottadeni in the roman Valentia, — was part of the saxon Northumbria till 1026, made shire ground by Alex. I., and came to the Douglases, etc., — is traversed by Watling St., the Catrail, and N. Brit. branch rail., — watered by Rs. Tweed and Teviot, — and bordered by Berwk. (N.), the Cheviots and Northmbrld. (E. and SE.), Cumbrld. (S.), Dumf. (SW.), Selkirk. (W.), Edinb. (NW.). Length from Mellingwood, or Mildenwood hill, NE. to Carham Burn 35 m., greatest breadth 28, av. ditto 18; relative size 237-10,000ths; circuit 140. It contains 715½ sq. m., or 457,920 acres, of which about 2-5ths are cultivated, and Teviotdale is 5-7ths; 46,025 + 236 persons, of whom 13,061 are in Hawick, Kelso, Jedburgh, — 24,084 are females, 21,521 under 20 yrs. of age, 10,546 county-born; 8661 houses, besides 392 empty and building; 4 districts, Castleton-Melrose, Hawick, Jedburgh, Kelso; 30 parishes (Castletown or Liddisdale being the largest, — 18 m. by 14), besides parts of 4 others; above 90 vils., hmlts., etc.; 4 market towns, and small debt courts, — Jedburgh (the capital, sessions court, etc., and a royal and parl. burgh), Hawick, Kelso, Melrose, — the last three being also burghs of barony, along with Yetholm; returns one member for the county (elect. 2032), — while Jedburgh contributes (el. 221) to Haddington; is governed by a lord lieut., 18 dep. lieuts., sheriff and substitute, and belongs to the presbyteries of Kelso, Jedburgh, Lauder, Selkirk, in synod of Merse, with 32 clergy, whose av. stipends are 226*l.* Real prop. (1815) 254,180*l.*, — ('43) 284,204*l.*, of which 298*l.* on quarries; gross rental (1811) 230,663*l.*, or 10*s.* 1*d.* per acre, — ('43) 235,041*l.*, or 10*s.* 3*d.*; valued rent (1674) 314,663*l.* scots; fiar or av. price of wheat ('42-8) 50*s.* 7*d.* per qr., — of meal 16*s.* 9½*d.* per boll of 140 lbs. Av. number of offenders ('36-46) 107. —— The surface gradually rises to the Cheviots on the E. and the ridge (dividing Teviotdale and Liddisdale) on the SW., whence the rivers run N. to the Teviot and Tweed. A line N. and S. thro' Hassendean divides the red marl or old red sandstone on the E. from the slaty rocks to the W.; trap masses appear here and there in the sandstone, and among the Cheviots. Some of the highest peaks (which are smooth and round) are: Cheviot top 2988 ft., Windygate hill —, Carter fell 1602 (traces of coal under it); in the range at the heads of the Teviot and Liddel, Peel fell —, Lauriston hills —, Windburgh hill 2000, Maiden Paps —, Tudhope hill 1830, Mellingwood hill 2000, Wisp hill 1830; Eildon hills near Melrose are 1364, Ruber's Law and Dunian near Jedburgh are 1419 and 1120, Minto Craigs 720. Red and white stone is quarried at Jedburgh, etc.; coal and lime are found in Liddisdale (lime also at Hobkirk and Southdean); and marl is abundant. Woollens (1350 hands), including tartans, etc., and stockings (964), with a few linens, are manufact. at Hawick, Kelso, Jedburgh, Melrose: in '47, a bad year, 1035 hands were in the woollen mills. Rivers Ettrick, Allan, Gala, Leader (from Lauderdale), Eden, etc. all run to the Tweed, which has some fine scenery along it; the Borthwick, Ale, Slitrig, Rule, Jed, Oxnam, Kail, etc. to the Teviot; the Liddel runs SW. towards the Solway. Blackburn Water has a fall of 38 ft., in a fine spot near a natural bridge of 55 ft. span; on the Eden is a fall of 40 ft. Pike, perch, eels are caught in Primside, Galashiels, and other small lochs; in Liddisdale are mineral springs. Soil, clayey in the uplands, and sandy in Liddisdale, but in the lower parts a rich loam is found by the rivers, and turnips, wheat, barley, potatoes, oats, beans, grasses, are grown; husbandry has improved, and there is a great breadth of arable land; cattle, a mixture of Teesdale, Ayrsh., and Highland; Cheviot and Leicest. sheep are pastured on the hills (which are green to the top), — the farms running 1000 to 3000 acres, while those in the lowlands are 400 to 600; estates are large, and leases 14 to 21 yrs. Ale was brewed in the 12th cent. by the monks, who estab. a dairy at Cumberley before 1165; in the last war, tobacco was grown; orchards are seen about Jedburgh and other sheltered spots; peat is used for fuel. —— Watling St. passes Blackhall Hill (near Ad Fines) on the Border, Hownam, Mt. Teviot, Ancrum, Lessudden, Eildon (near Eildon Hills camps or Trimontium), Chesterlee on the Leader, and Walls camp near Blainslee, having Bonchester, Rowchester, Blackchester, Bewlie, Ridgewalls, and other british forts in its neighbourhood, and marks of roman camps near them; traces are left of the Catrail boundary, which went for 18 m. by Roberton (in Selk.), Northouse, Langburn, Maiden Paps, etc. to Peel fell; Caldshiels is a british camp, — there is a roman one near Jedburgh, — and many hill forts, or 'picts' works,' cairns, druid stones, are left in Castletown or Liddisdale (at Whisgills, Tinnishill, Carby, Morbattle, Linton, Millburn, etc.), the old seat of the Elliots and Armstrongs. Fine abbey ruins remain at Melrose, Jedburgh, Kelso; old castles, border towers and peels (of which there are more than 40), at Fernichurst (the Kers'), Branxholme (scene of Scott's 'Lay'), Roxburgh, Hermitage (Bothwell's, where Q. Mary visited him), Clintwood, Gossford, Halidean, Delphiston, Goldielands, Smailholms (Pringles'), etc., Harden (Scotts'), Littledean (Kers'), Lintalee (where Douglas beat the Earl of Brittany). Thomson was born at Ednam, Dr. Leyden at Denholm, Mrs. Somerville and Sir D. Brewster at Jedburgh; the English were beaten 1544 at Ancrum Moor, — near which is the Waterloo pillar on Penielheugh (in the camp), commanding a fine prospect, as does Gladswood near Drygrange. Yetholm has a gipsy colony, and St. Boswell's is noted for a large sheep fair. —— Some of the seats are: Duke of Buccleugh Melrose, D. of Roxburgh Fleurs, Marq. of Lothian Mt. Teviot, Earl Minto M. Castle, Lord Polwarth Mertoun, Ld. Somerville Pavilion, Pringle Bt. Stichel, J. P. SCILLY ISLDS., about 24 m. WSW. of Land's End, W. Cornwall, the Sydiles, or Sellinæ (from the british sulleh, or 'sun rocks'), or Cassiterides, 'tin islands,' of the old writers, which last was a name common to all this end of Cornwall, have since their day been much altered by the action of the sea, which has gradually brought large tracts under water; became a chief station of the druids, when forced from the mainland; were given by Athelstane after his conquest 936 to some monks who settled at Trescoe or Trescaw, by Hen. I. to Tavistock abbey, and by Eliz. or Jas. I. to the Godolphins, who hold them under the duchy; offered a retreat 1645-6 to Prince Charles, and were fortified 1650 by the Godolphins, but taken 1651, by Blake and Ayscough. They include 15 or 16 isldS. (or more than 50, including rocks, etc.) of which the largest are, St. Mary's (Mid.) containing Heugh Town capital, Trescoe (NW.), St. Martin (N.) with a beacon put up 1685, Bryher or Bryer near Trescoe, St. Agnes (S.) with a revolving light on it, lat. 49° 54′ N., long. 6° 21′ W., 138 ft. high, put up 1680, seen 16 m., — Sampson (W.), St. Helen's, White and East IsldS. (near St. Martin's), Gough Crefawthen, and Scilly proper (a mere rock) near Trescoe, — between which are St. Mary, Crow, Smith, Broad, Grimsby, Tean, and other sounds, with 2 to 7 fath. water, but dangerous on account of reefs and currents; contain 5370 (or 4700) acres; 2582 + 12 persons, of whom 1545 are in St. Mary's, and who are chiefly farmers, fishermen, and pilots; 511 houses with 9 churches and chapels; are governed in ordinary matters by a council of 12, chosen by the landlord; and make a par. and sup. registry, as below. Livings: St. Mary with St. Martin Cur. (Ex.) val. —l., patr. A. Smith, Esq., — church, b. —, has tombs of several wrecked 1707, when 4 ships and 2000 men of Sir Cloudesley Shovel's fleet were lost with him on the Gilstone: St. Agnes Cur. —l.; and Trescoe, Bryher, and Sampson cur. —l., — both supplied by the Christian Knowledge Society, with churches in each isld. Granite and gneiss rock is the substratum, and traces of tin (at Dolphin Down, Trescoe), copper, and lead are found. The climate is mild; soil in general sandy, but in Trescoe and St. Agnes fertile, and improved by kelp. Barley, oats, potatoes, and a little wheat are grown, and sheep, rabbits, and poultry reared. The cliffs swarm with sea-fowl, and are covered with samphire, which makes a good pickle. Many druid remains are found, as circles in St. Martin's, and on Salahee Downs in St. Mary's, — with barrows and kistvaens in St. Mary's, Bryher (one 75 ft. diam.), and Sampson; abbey or church ruins in Trescoe and St. Helen's; old castle and Oliver's fort in Trescoe, with another near Heugh Town, which has Star Castle barracks. There is a tradition that a tract called Lioness, towards the main, sunk about 1099; and ruins of hedges, etc. are seen in the shallow water, between the isldS. Near them are Bishops and Clerks, Poul bank, Criny, Coreggan, New Deeps, Seven Stones, Thomson's bank, and other dangers. Judge

SHETLAND ISLANDS, or SHETLAND, a joint county with the Orkneys (about 48 m. NE. of them), and the most N.-ly group of islands belonging to Great Britain, includes Mainland, Yell, Unst, and about 100 other islands, holms, skerries, between N. lat. 59° 51′ (Sumburgh hd.), and 60° 45′ (Skaw), W. long. 0° 45′ (Brury or Braru) and 1° 49′ (Vie Skerries), besides Foula and Fair isle, exclusive of which two it covers a space about 65 m. by 10 to 25,—was the Ultima Thule (signifying 'north') of the Romans, — settled by the Northmen 7th cent. who called it Hiatland, and Yeatland (whence Zetland), — came to the scottish crown 1469, when Jas. III. married Marg. of Denmark, — was held by the Sinclairs from 1380, and granted to the Dundases (with title of Earl Zetland) 1766. Along the coast, which is highest and most rugged on the W. side, and worn by the sea into innumerable bays or voes, and gios or gullies, swarming with birds, and having 30 to 150 fath. water, are: Sumburgh hd. light, Mousa isld. off Sandwick bay, Brassay, and the Noss outside Lerwick sound, Catfrith and other voes (with Greenholm, Gillness, etc.) near Mull of Eswick, Doure or Oure voe (Whalsey isld. Eastling, etc. off it), Luna Ness (Out Skerries off it) at E. end of Yell sound, Burra hd. in Yell, Colgrave sound between Fetlar and Hascosea or Hascussay outside Basta voe, Unst with Balta off Balta sound (where whalers touch), Skaw near Lambaness, Outstack rock (the most N. of all, shaped like a seal) beyond the Skerries islets, Papaness in Yell, Whalfirth voe near N. end of Yell sound (which has Deal and Hagrasetter and other voes, with Samphray, Biga, Stourholm, and other islds. in it), Feideland pt. near Sand voe, Ronas voe near that mountain, Hamna voe (Ossa Skerry off it), Eshaness leading round to St. Magnus bay (12 m. wide, — with Sandwick and Hillswick voes, Eaglishay off Magnussetter voe, — Mickle Roe, Papastour, Lit. Papa, Vemantray, Linga and other islds., with Olnafirth, Grufirth, and other shallow voes behind, — and Vie Skerries outside), Papa sound near Sandness, Valey sound and picts' castle, Grueting voe and east., Skeldaness (Foula 18 m. W.) leading to Scalloway bay (15 m. wide, with Burra, W. Burray, Hildashay, and other islds., — Bigseter, Weesdale, Stromness, and other voes, — Scalloway east., Cliff sound, St. Ninian's holm, etc.), Fitful head, Quendal bay, Cross isld., and W. Voe near Sumburgh hd., from which Fair isle is 22 m. SSW. Relative size 291-10,000ths. It contains 880 sq. m. or 563,200 acres, of which 25 sq. m. or 16,000 ac., are lakes (and small voes?); 30,558 + 116 persons, of whom 2787 are in Lerwick, 17,382 are females, 14,513 under 20 yrs. of age, 30,831 island-born [for occupation, see ORKNEY ISLDS.]; 5388 houses (flats being reckoned) besides 148 empty and building; 12 parishes; 1 burgh of barony, — Lerwick, the capital, and a sheriff's court, — and 1 small debt court, Burravoe; returns one member with Orkney since the Reform act; is under a lord-lieut., vice-lieut., — dep. lieuts., and sheriff substitute, — and constitutes a synod (as below) with three presbyteries. Real prop. (1843) 19,929*l.*, of which 762*l.* on mines; gross rental (1821) 6741*l.* or 3*d.* per acre, — ('43) 17,457*l.* or 7½*d.* Expend. for poor ('47-8) in 12 pars. (11 being assessed) 1336*l.*, of which 983*l.* for 782 poor on roll, 119*l.* for 240 casual poor. (See ORKNEY ISLDS. for other particulars.) —— Gneiss and mica slate prevail in Mainland, Yell, etc., with clay slate and old red sandstone from Bressa to Sumburgh hd., — trap in Hillswick voe, Unst, and Fetlar, — granite near Skeldaness and Ronas mountn. which rises 1440 ft. Kairn hill in Foula is 1350 ft., Saxaford and Vallafield in Unst 936 and 600, Fair isle 708. Traces of copper are found at Sandloge, Fair isle, etc.; of iron at Fitful head, Garthness, and in Unst and Fetlar; with many specimens of minerals in various parts, as garnets, fluor spar, asbestos, galena, quartz, porcelain clay, soapstone, talc, amianthus, verd-antique, petroleum, etc. Large caves have been made by the sea at Papa Stour, Lyra Skerry, Scraada (250 ft. long), in Northmaven, Dorcholm, Burrafirth (300 ft.), in Unst, Magnussetter voe, Mickleroe, Navir Grind, etc. Stephouse Stones in Lunna (one 23 ft. high) are blocks forced up the shore by the sea, of which several instances are to be found. Noss isld. has a rope bridge to Bressay across the gulf, which is 160 ft. down to the sea. The sea eagle or bonxie, great snowy owl or katogle, are seen, with swarms of guillemots, kittywakes, gulls, cormorants, and other sea-fowl. Coal fish (called sethes or sillochs, which are a staple food, and appear in May), ling, tusk, cod, herrings, are caught along the coast, and on the great fishing bank to the W., — the boats being of a make adapted to the peculiar wave they meet, and carrying 3 to 7 men. Seals (phoca barbuta, and p. vitulina), and bottle-nosed or ca'ing whales (delphinus deductor), are common; rabbits abound. Climate, healthy, but moist and stormy, especially in the N.; winter lasts from Oct to Apr., — the shortest day being only 5½ hrs.; but the twilights are long, and in summer time there is light enough to read at midnight. Surface, all rock and moss, dreary and barren, without trees or roads, — but the last are now making with the aid of government. It is divided into above 5000 small farms, subject to heavy feu duties to the Earl of Zetland; about 28,000 ac. are cultivated, in sheltered hollows, and a little oats and barley, or bear, grown; stock, all of a small kind, consists of 22,000 head of short-horned cattle, the cow being under 300 lbs. and yielding 3 quarts per day, — 80,000 half-wild, dun-faced sheep, 30 lbs. to the carcase, of a fine flavour, the wool being variously coloured, and spun into soft stockings and gloves (that may be drawn through a ring), with shawls and scarfs like lace, — 12,000 shelties, or rough hardy ponies, 8 to 11 hands high, which have run from 3*l.* up to 8 and 10*l.* a head since steam was introduced. There are many small lean swine; cottages are of mud, in the midst of turf or stone dykes, and peat is used for fuel. The people are half fishermen, and small farmers, and make good sailors for the whalers and Hudson's Bay ships. By the old tenure, the udallers or proprietors held by mere possession, and when the land was sold, care was taken to give the odal-born, or kindred, the first offer. Names are mostly danish, e. g. those ending in burgh (near a 'pictish' fort) as Sumburgh, Snaburgh, etc., — in seter or ster (a dwelling) as Brinnaster, Swarnster, — in ness (a headland) as Brimness, etc., — in wick (an open bay) as Haroldswick, Norwick, — in voe (a bay), holm (a small isld.), — stack (a high rock), etc. Remains of 'pictish' burghs, borgs, or duns (a small rude fort or castle), are left at Mousa, Scalloway, etc.; and Stromlake has a pillar stone. Brough Lodge in Fetlar, Sir A. Nicolson, Bt. Grain, stock, eggs, butter, rabbit skins, feathers, kelp, straw plait, fish, are exported,—a good trade in the latter having been opened with Spain, etc. through the exertions of A. Anderson, Esq., M.P. of Vaila (and a native, b. 1792). Steamers run from Lerwick, the capital, to Aberdeen and Edinbro'; and in 1845, 72 sail of 2025 tons belonged to the islds.
